

KINDNESS FOR ANIMALS

A pet is a lifelong commitment

On 6 December 2018, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SPCA), Pet Lovers Junior Club (PLJC) and Loyal D, joined hands together once again, by popular demand, to educate children aged 7 to 12 years on animal welfare and responsible pet ownership through Aniversity – a university where children learn about animals.

The event started with the SPCA educational talk. The talk touched upon many useful topics related to responsible pet ownership. Children learned how to take care of their pets, how to feed them right and other important pet care information that was new to them.

The talk was followed by a segment by Loyal D, which was based on the themes of "Adopt, Don't Shop" and "Animal Behaviour." A very important point was made during the talk, about why having a pet is not like buying a soft toy. Instead, it's like adopting a child who needs love and care. Two puppies, Almond and April were introduced to further educate these kids on the bonding with animals.

A SPCA dog, Google surprised everyone with her appearance. Her arrival paved the way for an educational segment on approaching and interacting with an older dog.

At the end of this exciting learning experience, the participants earned goodie bags with fun and educational items such as fancy drawstring bag, pencil case, SPCA brochures and Bud.D Walk Bag.

This was not the first time these three organisations conducted an event like this. The first event was held back in 2016. Its success and the positive feedback from the children and their families have been motivating the teams to organise it year after year since then.

WE'LL BE BACK!

1. A volunteer guided participants on the correct handling of pets and strays.
2. Proud participants for the day showing their paintings featuring heart felt slogans for animal love and respect.
3. A participant enjoying some tender loving touch with a resident pooch at SPCA.
4. An educational talk by SPCA on responsible pet ownership, how to care for pets, correct feeding and the importance of spending quality time with the animals in our care.
5. Each goodie bag contains fun and educational items such as fancy drawstring bag, pencil case, SPCA brochures and Bud.D Walk Bag.
